THE HISTORY

Stockton House is nestled in 8,500 acres of Shropshire countryside on the Apley Estate.

Built in 1702 as a rectory to the historic St Chad's church down the lane, Stockton House has been a family home for over three hundred years.

ST CHAD'S CHURCH

A gorgeous 11th century church just a short walk down the lane from Stockton House. St Chad's could be the perfect location for your ceremony or blessing.

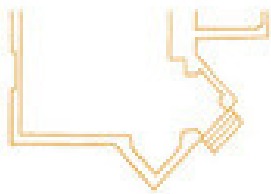

THE VICTORIAN TURNING HOUSE

A beautiful Victorian turning house at the bottom of the garden with a civil ceremony licence. As you step inside to sign the register, we'll turn the house 360 degrees and then you'll come back to face your guests and be officially married!

DOING THE RIGHT THING

Working with the Apley Estate and their farmers, we are sourcing produce locally. We can literally carry ingredients to the kitchen to prepare and cook as fresh as the day they were harvested.

We are replacing the old oil heating system with a far more sustainable and environmentally friendly wood chip burner. The wood chip is sourced from the estate team that manage the coppicing and woodland. We will then replant and grow new trees to help reduce carbon, fossil fuels and support local employment.

We want to reduce as much plastic and non-recyclable material as we can. We don't sell single-use plastic bottles of water, instead we use recycled glass bottles and chill-filtered water. We recycle our cardboard and compost waste food and materials so it goes back into the gardens and fields for new growth.
